Draper is expected to be present, then Draper started the Kentucky matrimonial episode in his family by marrying Miss Susan Preston, twelve years ago. His brother, George Draper, married Miss Jessie Preston, a sister to the bride of Lieut. Draper. The Preston women were daughters of the noted politician, William Preston, residing at Lexington, and were far famed for beauty.

Gen. Draper being absent when George Draper went to Kentucky to claim his bride, George Draper, the oldest son of Gen. Draper, accompanied his wife. George Draper was in turn captured by a Kentucky beauty in the person of Miss Lillian Duncan, the youngest daughter of Mayor Henry T. Duncan, of the city of Lexington. In less than six months George Draper was married to Miss Duncan. Arthur accompanied his brother, and was his best man.

He remembers stopping on a front lawn of the Duncan home to kiss a girl, and the little girl checked him. He remembers, a cousin to his brother's bride. Assistant Postmaster John Fisher and Postman Charles Holliday this morning returned from St. Louis, where they went to testify against Jerry A. Bell, the Paducah negro in jail there charged with fraudulently collecting money from the postoffice here, on a money order in favor of J. A. Bell, white.

The officials identified him very readily as the same man to whom the letter was delivered, as well as the man who appeared at the postoffice, and endorsed the order and collected the $10.

Bell, however, denied it all, and said he never saw any of them before and never collected a cent on a money order in his life.

He was held to answer and ordered to jail at Springfield, Ill., where he will remain until the next November term of court here unless he gives bail. He will then be tried before Judge Evans.

PLOT FOILED.

Convicts in the Penitentiary Plan to Escape, but Are Betrayed.

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 19.—A desperate plan, conceived by one of the most desperate convicts in the Frankfort penitentiary, to kill the guards and break out of the prison, was foiled today. The convicts in the penitentiary, who were planning to escape, were betrayed by one of their own number.

There are 200 men employed in the shoe factory, and those, and a part of those in the chair shops, were to follow their dash for liberty out of the prison walls. The convicts had been working on their plans for weeks, and it was only today that the plan was discovered.

The convicts were to be confined as well as an attempt, and will be given credit to Paducah. As the plan was given out from time to time the men will give them to the public.

The convicts will be a convenience as well as an attempt, and will be given credit to Paducah. As the plan was given out from time to time the men will give them to the public.

GATHERING IN

Democrats Convening in Chicago to Hold a Pow-wow.

The National Committee Meets Tomorrow to Prepare for Next Year's Campaign.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 19.—The hotels are filling up with the masses of prominent Democrats from all parts of the country who are gathering for the meeting tomorrow of the national committee and the day or two important and political pow-wows that are scheduled to be held on the side. Prominent among those who have already arrived are Senator Thurman of South Carolina, A. W. McHugh, of Utah, William H. White, of Washington, and D. J. Campbell of Michigan, a list of whom are known for addresses at the meeting to be held at the Auditorium tomorrow night.

Representatives of the Missouri Democracy are much in evidence. According to reports they bring with them a bona fide offer of $50,000 to go into the National Democratic campaign fund on condition that Kansas City is selected as the place for the national convention. To win out, however, the Missouri city must successfully back against the claims of Denver, Chicago, St. Louis, Pittsburgh and one or two other cities, all of which are expected to have big delegations on hand provided with the wherewithal to contest for the convention.

Those who have arrived are exceedingly reticent as to the probable work of the committee meeting, but the opinion is generally conceded that the committee will not take up matters of issues, policy, platform or candidates. Notwithstanding this the Ohio Valley Bi-State League has sent a strong delegation which will use its utmost endeavors to have the committee place itself on record on the sever question.

Wednesday, July 19, 1899.

Bryan leaders may at the Democratic convention abolish the time-honored two-thirds rule in nominating candidates for president and vice president and resort to majority rule.

Two-thirds rule has been a sacred principle of Democrats since their first national convention, but of course what Alford now fears is that its maintenance may defeat Bryan's renomination and the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform.

This implied fear is hardly consistent with Democratic boasts that Bryanism and silver sentiment are steadily increasing in popularity and strength in the Democracy.

Interior expansion is a subject this country may take up some day. It is generally known that there are 70,000,000 acres of new arid, worthless land in the country which is subject to a state of highest cultivation and fertility through irrigation.

The water which now annually runs to waste and causes great floods, government engineers say could be stored and used to reclaim these lands.

Poor Boston is again sorely afflicted, in addition to the gyrate motion, the sparrows, the termites, the big sugar worms, the kissing bugs and the new expansion pests, the canker worms have now made their appearance in countless thousands. On Boston Common, people walking under trees are obliged to carry umbrellas.

Southern manufacturers are reported to have increased 50 per cent. faster than in the corresponding quarter of last year. Many southerners who voted for silver begin to see the error of the statement that the hum of industry could come only with free coinage.

It is not known that George Washington assassinated any of his commanding generals. It is about time to call the parallel between Washington and Aguirre an error of judgment.

Nearly fifty naval vessels are under construction in American dock yards including a number for foreign power.

The advocates of the Goebel bill can only tell what Goebel has done, and this work, first and last, has been to oppress some enterprise in which, of course, he had no stock. By the by, Mr. Goebel is said to be worth a quarter of a million and that he made it all as a lawyer and in business, yet not once does it appear that he ever lent aid, notwithstanding his wealth, to a public enterprise. What profitable business he must have engaged in to have made so great a fortune in his life, he still being regarded a young man.

Mr. Carlisle, when he was an attorney in that great fraud, the Covington lottery scheme, didn't do a tenth as well as Mr. Goebel, and yet Carlisle was without a peer as a legal light. Mr. Goebel, in, however, only to be praised for his thrift, but the question will come up how did he do it, and why will he try to oppress—as his official record shows—the case—every public enterprise—those things which make possible and profitable the class of enterprises Mr. Goebel and others have found it worth their time to engage in—and leave others to foster them. Mr. Goebel's friends will applauding would do well also to go into the explanation business.

The Goebellites are calculating on winning many votes to their ticket through the inability of the average Democrat to split his ticket when he comes to vote. As the Louisville Times puts it, "The masses (no doubt those that sell) never take two boxes at a cherry" and it, therefore, thinks "the Kentucky election this year is going to be neither a Democratic or a Republican landslide, taking with it head, hide, horns and horns."

Incidents of the late state Democratic convention continue to come to the front in spite of the efforts to keep them within the ranks of the faithful. There is first an explanation and then an incident, and it always takes the latter to make the former reliable. A few more incidents and perhaps the people will come to the conclusion that the state convention was a deal from start to finish; only that and nothing more.

It is becoming more and more known throughout the state that the ticket nominated at Lexington is one of the best ever presented to the suffrages of Kentuckians, and its election by an overwhelming majority will be the people's answer to the mischief of Goebel and Goebellism.

The Democratic press has much to say about the "Tayor touch" just to draw attention to it, it is clear, from their old snarl that which did a job lately in Louisville.

A Tennessee contemporary has been considering the duties of national politics long enough to make this week remark "If voters first public officers with the same care and intelligence that they employed an attorney or business assistants there would be a revolution in the official rule of the country. This office ought to be a public trust but most generally it is made a private snarl." Here is enough truth, if not philosophy to make a good rule for the people to adhere to if not a young man to read with profit.

COME AGAIN, MR. GOEBEL!

Lexington Herald, "Now that Mr. Goebel has spoken—now that he recognizes the necessity of public debt and explanation—he must go far further and make a full explanation on the issue of the convention now." Mr. Goebel, however broad, and as yet to Mr. Woodson are not sufficient, and will not be accepted by the tribunal to which Captain Stone appeared and at whose bar Mr. Goebel has now entered his appearance and made partial answer. Captain Stone did not content himself with a mere charge, he set out the time, the place, the circumstances and the substance of the conversation. The time was subsequent to the written agreement and therefore no plea of that written agreement is relevant; the place was not in any room, but at a designated part of the building in which the convention was; the matter discussed was not the temporary organization of the convention, but was days after that temporary organization had been affected; Mr. Woodson was not present and had not been the intermediary for this colloquy and therefore a reference to conversations at which Mr. Woodson was present and concerning matters about which he was intermediary is not relevant; the subject is stated by Captain Stone and the sequence of the colloquy given, and no need is made of the language stated was not used, or that the conversation as reported did not occur. The Herald, therefore, repeats that Mr. Goebel will find it necessary to make further and fuller explanation. In the meantime other statements will be made which will assist all impartial judges to reach a fair judgment.

ELECTIONS THIS FALL

Gov. objects governor, state officers and legislators this fall. Kentucky and Ohio, governor and state officers, Maryland, governor and both houses of the legislature, Massachusetts, governor, state officers and both houses of the legislature, Nebraska, justices of the supreme court and two members of the board of regents of the state university, New Jersey, eight state senators and sixty members of the assembly, New York, six justices of the supreme court and 150 members of the legislature, Pennsylvania, state treasurer, two judges of the supreme court and one of the superior court, Virginia, secretary of state, treasurer and minor state officers.

TO THE POINT.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: "If he prevents a Goebel party will be dominant in Kentucky and the Democratic party as heretofore conducted will be a thing of the past. There are strong elements against him. The sound money Democrats will not support him nor will those who realize that his election is a blow at the sovereignty of the citizen. The State men will not and their betrayal and the Herdman men who were unseated and gagged will scarcely exert themselves to put their despiser in the governor's chair. Kentucky Democrats can see that Goebellism is a most unscrupulous assault upon the honorable action of all parties alike. It is an unclean and abominable thing, and should be thrust out before it defiles Kentucky and works mischief not easily calculated."

Lexington Herald: "The secret history of the late Louisville convention is gradually being told by persons present and participating in its deliberations, and it will come out before the canvass ends. The Owen News, the Carlisle Mercury and other papers whose editors were delegates are compelled to justify to their readers their own actions as delegates. And as the publications multiply the mass of testimony increases both in volume and importance and as each publication repeats other publications the truth will gradually be made public."

Danville Advocate: "General Harlan, though defeated for the nomination, still retains the admiration and respect of every person who believes in honesty and fair dealing in politics as well as in everything else. The course pursued by him during the

GOEBEL SCHEME.

Hopes to Win by a Technicality in the Goebel Law.

Lexington Post, 12th Sept. J. A. K. Normal, a member of the firm of J. A. Shottsworth & Co., clothing manufacturers, at 607 West Main street, said today that he had a conversation with Senator George Faris, of Louisville, a prominent Goebel worker, during which the latter expressed the scheme whereby Goebel hopes to be made governor.

According to Captain Normal, the conversation was as follows: The two met on the train soon after the hotel bill was passed, and Captain Normal happened to say that Kentucky was a close state.

"Oh, no, things are different now," said Senator Faris, with a smile. "We do the voting now all by ourselves."

"But," said Captain Normal, "I understand that the election commissioners are men of character. How can you gain an election by this?"

"That is very simple," said Senator Faris. "There is an obscure clause in the bill that says all votes must be counted ten days after the election. Certain counties where the voters might be against us can easily be kept back ten days, and the election commissioners will not be required to do any dirty work to accomplish the desired end."

Captain Normal says that from what he learned in the state that Goebel will be used in many counties that promise to bring a heavy Republican vote.

A FEW FIGURES.

Scientists have succeeded in measuring the vibrations of sound, light, heat, electrical waves and many others with the announced result that the Roentgen ray vibrates 288,224,000,000,000 times a second, a photographic limit of the solar spectrum, 1,125,890,000,842,624 times; Green light, 562,919,053,421,312 times; infra red, photographic limit, 281,477,376,710,536 times; heat rays of solar spectrum, lowest direct measurement, 70, 268,711,177,664 times; audible vibrations, extreme upper limits, 32,768; music, highest note, 4,096; music, lowest note, 32; water surface waves of minimum velocity.

It is easy enough to say musical vibrations are 1,194 or that exact musical vibrations are 32,768, but a man who can tell his neighbor how many vibrations per second the Roentgen ray makes?

NEW MONEY ORDERS.

The new money order will be issued beginning September 15. It will be quite an improvement over those now in use in several respects. It will be of a much more convenient size and shape, not exceeding that of a bank check. The principal change will be the giving of a receipt, an exact facsimile of the order, which will be returned after a reasonable length of time in case of the loss of the original. The marginal coupons denoting the value of the order will be dispensed with.

GERMAN CHILDREN.

In Arthur Macdonald, the special agent in the bureau of education, who has been conducting a series of experiments with the school children of Washington for the purpose of collecting statistics relating to their characteristics of American boys and girls, has received a report of a student in Virginia, recently concluded in Germany by the celebrated Professor Virchow. This expert's researches, taken in almost 10,000 children, and his results obtained are regarded as highly important and interesting by all those who are interested in such studies in this country. Out of 10,000 school children in Germany, Virchow found that more than half belonged to the mixed race, a full one-third being blond and one-eighth 11 per cent being brunet. As might be expected in Germany more than two-thirds of the children had blonde hair, a rather curious fact being that only one-fourth of 1 per cent had red hair. Virchow went into minute detail in his tables, classifying the children of all classes.

He found that of the children of government officials, or the well-to-do classes, less than 10 per cent were brunet and one-third of all the German school children had grey eyes. This noted scientist says that the color of the skin, which stands in a certain relation with the color of hair and eyes, is an important characteristic in distinguishing races. Blonde and brown people follow one another in most places, and today only a few people are wholly blonde. It seems as if brunettes were increasing daily. The majority of children are born with blue eyes, but with very many the blue soon changes into brown. This change begins in the first week of life; after two years the permanent color is in most cases determined. The change of color in the hair is much slower. The majority of children have blonde hair at birth. It becomes gradually dark, the same being more or less true of the skin.

TEA SALOONS.

The first tea saloon in New York has been opened for business. At one bar hot tea is served at 2 cents a cup with an additional charge of 1 cent for cream and sugar. At another bar hot tea is sold at 1 cent a cup and tea punch at 2 cents. Shortly no doubt such fancy mixtures as tea cocktails, fizzy and soups will be sold at equally low prices to people who are afflicted with a thirst and tea will also be sold to put the growler trade. The management of the saloon makes the announcement that anybody who will stop drinking liquor and will send to this saloon for tea instead will be accommodated, and an account in any savings bank will be started for them, the daily deposit to be the difference between the amount of money they have been paying for liquor and that which they pay for tea. With or without this attachment, it really costs as if these tea saloons ought to do more for the cause of temperance than anything hitherto undertaken in this line.

Observations ...at Random.

The mountain of Kentucky, West Virginia and northward is deficient in the sense of humor says the Washington Post. It takes life seriously, and it may be said to its credit to take it frequently. Indeed, its wisest reputation is as a shooter. It is not surprising to the outsider who is acquainted with life and its environment that the inhabitants of a neighborhood are of a serious humor as bright as one would find in Belgium in a day's travel. In contrast a Kentucky school teacher proved the rule. Being interested in education, I never saw a country school in operation during my wanderings through half a dozen counties that I did not have to talk with the teacher, and I invariably introduced myself by saying, "Well you are teaching the young folk how to shoot, are you?" I had asked it dozens and dozens of times, and always received a polite reply in the affirmative. "You is to say, I always did with exception. The exception was a young chap of about twenty, with the making of a popular congressman in his drawing speech and good natural shrewdness.

"No," he said, "I'm not. I don't know. They're from there. What

What I'm trying to teach them is how not to shoot."

Another time it was a school teacher, but of a different kind, a kind of nature. I had ridden twenty miles along the banks of the Vanderbilt, a pretty slender stream, by the way, and hadn't seen a fisherman, by the time I had this man. He had become curious, as well as tired, for the road was a very hard one to travel.

"Why don't you fish in this stream?"

I asked without many po-liticisms.

"Ah! any fish?" was the laconic reply.

"Why not?" I asked in surprise.

"The man looked at me and my turn came with a real innocent's smile.

"If you could get out of this country,"

he said, "I'd cross between a hawk and a bear in his eye, because as a fish can, would you be here?"

As soon as I landed after having been "kissed" by a kissing bug, I placed a large piece of ham fat upon the spot and let it remain there for some time. The patient will experience relieved at once, but the ham fat should be taken off just then, as the poison in the "kiss" must be drawn out. The fat accomplishes this in about half an hour.

These rules do not apply to bites on the face, for when everybody else is gone to bed.

Mr. Henry Family, of the News, has just received a letter from his brother,

Mr. Henry Family, who is fighting with the Tennessee boys in Manila.

He will be remembered by many Paducah people, having been here as a lieutenant in the Hopkinsville company during the '94 encampment.

The climate of Manila seems very agreeable to Mr. Family, as he has gained about 30 pounds in weight and has never missed a roll of cigar since his arrival at the island. He enjoys life in the far west, but nevertheless would like very much to see his "Old Kentucky Home" again.

Children, as a rule, boast of a po-eternity propensity for poking their fingers into every hole they see, and the smaller the hole the more eager they are to explore its depths.

Yesterday afternoon a small boy entered a down town drug store and succeeded, by dint of hard work and a sheer, in getting up to the top of the great case. The first thing that caught his eye was a pretty looking affair with a hole in the top of it.

The next thing in order was to poke his finger into the hole, and the next to call a doctor. He had intruded on a patient's ear canal, in which the end of a cigar is inserted and cut off by a spring blade. The end of his finger was critically nipped off but his curiosity was satisfied.

Compassionate things assume a hu-manous phase at certain times.

Yesterday a telegraph messenger was walking rapidly down the street towards headquarters. There is one reminiscent trait about the much lampooned messenger boy, and that is when he is moving he moves fast, like information and a stubborn mule, however, he is hard to get started.

This particular boy had a pretty good start. He attempted to ride across the wooden crossing in front of the office when this time a wheel forced under the track between two wooden planks and his front wheel sank to the bottom.

He took a graceful header and struck the sidewalk in a position that is easier imagined than described. Fortunately, he was only dazed, and as the day in half snail, fell crept, as he quietly said to those who had had to pick him up, "I'm up! I'm up!

didn't I?"

The spectators were forced to admit that he did.

Another story is told on a drummer, and may not be new, but it's along the same line.

The drummer was at a social station waiting for a train. Presently a rumbling sound was heard in the distance, penetrated upon by a far off whistle which announced the approach of the train. In a few minutes it shot past, leaving the drummer and his grips just where they stood before, the former looking extremely surprised.

"Umph, umph," he remarked to an old hatter who stood near by, "it didn't stop, did it?"

"Now, said didn't even hesitate," said the reply.
